

WE NOMINATE

William Kirkpatrick Selden, widely known consultant in American higher education, a former college president and the pivotal force in the development of the Princeton Arts Council, who has come forward with the most stimulating proposal of the early Fall. It is the 57-year old Selden's conviction, one he has shared with the Mayors of Princeton Borough and Township, that Princeton should bring into being a Princeton Community Forum, the purpose of which would be the creation of a body to meet regularly with its University counterpart as a way of insuring the "free and open interchange of ideas and proposals relating to town-gown relations."

Like the newly authorized Council of the Princeton University Community, one of the most dramatic steps yet undertaken in the governance of American universities, the Selden-conceived Forum "would be primarily a deliberative body and could recommend action to any decision-making body" of the Borough and Township. As its name implies, it "would be a forum for broad discussion of issues relating initially to University-Community relations, and it would provide a ready means of developing solutions to problems, hopefully before they might lead to tensions and acrimonious feelings."

Ever since graduating from Princeton with the Class of 1934, Selden, a native of Oil City, Pa., has been deeply involved in education. He started out here as Assistant to the Deans of the College and Faculty, a year with Eastman Kodak was followed by eight years in the administration of Brown University and then an eight-year period at Northwestern (1945-1953) where he was Director of Admissions as well as Dean and University Recorder. From the presidency of Illinois College (Jacksonville, Ill.), he was called to Washington in 1955 to "straighten out" the National Commission on Accrediting, an organization which injected a degree of sanity into the working of educational organizations involving some 1,200 American colleges.

Wherever he has been, Selden, formerly vice-president of Columbia University's "think tank" known as the American Assembly, has played major roles in service activities. In Providence, Evanston, Jacksonville and for the past four years in Princeton, his interests have ranged from churches, hospitals, and youth programs to bureaus serving veterans of the Armed Forces, the Y.M.C.A., governmental commissions and advisory groups in the general area of education.

Selden, Chairman of the singularly effective Princeton Tennis Program, thoroughly enjoys reminiscing about how he happened to become an educator. At the Princeton Senior Banquet in 1931 he was seated next to the late Dean Christian Gauss. "When he inquired about my plans," Selden recalls, "I replied that I was entering Harvard Business School. In an off-hand way he suggested that I might stop by his office for a talk. I had completely forgotten his invitation until one day I happened to be passing by his office. He immediately approached me: 'You were coming to see me.' I hastily replied in the affirmative. A few minutes later he offered me the position of becoming his assistant the coming year. I accepted and, through this incident my life's work was decided."

For suggesting ways in which the Community of Princeton may become even stronger than it is in 1969; for asking Town and Gown together to ponder how they might interact even more effectively than they do today; for thinking of the "restructuring" that could make all of the difference between "chaos" and "understanding;" he is our nominee as

WHAT'S THE PROBLEM?

Princeton Reps. Traffic, lack of middle-income housing, parking and youth — in that order — are the most pressing problems in Princeton, according to a questionnaire sent out in early June and returned this week by the Borough's Republican candidates: Robert Cawley for mayor and Charles Cornforth and Christine St. John for Council.

The Republicans mailed 2,700 questionnaires to Borough households, both Democratic and Republican. About 300 replies came back.

Traffic topped the list, with 453 people who say it is a "major" problem; 254 say it's a "minor" problem and a surprising 47 shrug it off as "no problem."

Lack of middle-income housing was a close second: 452 regard it as a "major" problem; 181 say it's a "minor" problem and 58 don't think it's a problem at all.

Parking almost went hand in hand with traffic: 450 people say it's a major problem; 155 only a minor problem; 101 people and no problem whatsoever to a lucky 73 Borough residents.

Youth problems should receive "major" added emphasis" according to 450 of the respondents. Less than half that number — 165 — would give "minor" added emphasis, and 123 don't think any additional emphasis on youth programs is needed.

Commenting on the results, Mr. Cawley picked out the answers to the "lack of middle income housing" question and said, "Here we have tangible evidence that substantial number of people in the Borough think we need it. It's one thing to take a look at assessments and so on, and reach a decision by that route, but here's a case where a large number of people say — a major problem."

The People Speak. Some of the people who answered the questionnaire pencilled in a few pungent comments of their own.

"The current plan to build a middle-low income housing complex in the center of town is a major blunder — the right sort of housing in the VOICE OF THE PEOPLE: Questionnaires from more than 800 Republican and Democratic Borough households have been returned to the Republican candidates who sent them out. "What are Princeton's problems?" the candidates wanted to know. Left to right are Charles Cornforth, Council incumbent seeking re-election; Robert Cawley, running for mayor; and Mrs. Christine St. John, tax collector running for Council. Story by "This Is Princeton."

"Wrong place!" said one, "Middle income housing is absolutely necessary for the survival of this town!" counted another.

Someone — probably a pedestrian rubbing a bruised shin — asked, "Why don't they install four way pedestrian walk lights at Nassau and Witherspoon, and Washington Road and Nassau?"

"We need an inter-city bus system," another said.

"Traffic should not be allowed to double park on Nassau Street," stated one driver.

And a fanciful soul who figured there was nothing to lose, said, "Close Nassau Street and turn it into a pedestrian mall!"

Mr. Cawley shakes his head and smiles over those who don't see either traffic or parking as a problem.

"I think they're talking in relative terms — parking and traffic are 'no problem' compared to New York or Rome."

People felt strongly about youth — on both sides. "This group is over-served," was one tart reply. But, "More free activity centers are needed," was another.

"Perhaps the programs should be aimed at parents instead," said one thoughtful respondent. And the cry for "more co-ordination" was raised.

"Nassau Street," wrote one tactless correspondent, "is a mess at times."

Urgent Issues: Asked "what issues are most urgent?" respondents topped the list with "middle-income housing" (124 replies), naming "youth" as second (101) and following with "parking" (56) "traffic" (52); "consolidation" (32); "police/law and order" (48) and "schools" (32).

Removal of tax ratebikes by the University is a problem.
"Thoughtful consideration of the aspirations of our colored citizens, hoping that in Princeton at least we won't have black power."
Only rich people can live in Princeton — maybe that's the way it should be.

More Opinions. Another questionnaire, this one sent out to Republicans only, and in founding as well as Borrough, turns up answers that make an interesting comparison.

In early summer, the Republican Club of Princeton and the Women's Republican Club mailed 1,000 questionnaires geared chiefly to the question "what can you do for the Party?" The Republicans wanted a card file of cooks willing to make cookies, scholars willing to study legislative issues, drivers willing to take people to the polls in November.

Included in the questionnaires was: "What are some of the most pressing problems in your community?"

About 350 sheets were returned, and they showed five problems clustered almost as a unit at the top of the list. Other problems fell far behind these in importance.

The five are (1.) Traffic, parking and "highway planning", that is, a by pass for trucks; (2.) Schools; (3.) Drugs; (4.) Youth and teen concern; (5.) Taxes.

Very few people made comments. The questionnaire didn't specifically ask for them — so there is no way of elaborating on the "Schools" designation, for example.

Other issues mentioned by these Republican respondents were civil rights, crime, housing, consolidation, pollution, town gown relations.

cue Squad beginning at 1 p.m., Saturday, October 4.

The ambulances and rescue vehicles will represent first aid squads from all over New Jersey, plus neighboring states: Princeton, Princeton Junction, Dutch Neck, Kingston and Plainsboro will send fire companies.

Mayors Henry S. Patterson and John D. Wallace and Malcolm Rosell of West Windsor will lead the parade with their respective police chiefs. Howard Simon, president of the New Jersey State First Aid Council, will also ride in a lead car.

The parade will form in the William Street parking lot, march east on Nassau and north on Harrison Street to the Shopping Center. A reviewing stand will be located in front of the First Aid Unit Building. In ceremonies following the parade, the invocation will be given by the Rev. Marion F. Stokes.

The Princeton squad's new rescue truck, one of the most fully-equipped in the state, will be dedicated at the ceremonies. According to John Selah, chairman of the committee that designed the truck, "It contains every type of equipment imaginable for rescuing and treating victims of fires, drownings, auto accidents, cave-ins, industrial accidents, etc." The vehicle cost about $35,000.

APARTMENTS ENTERED

At 219 Nassau Street. Two third-floor apartments were entered last week at 219 Nassau Street.

Borough police report that someone climbed the fire escape to enter a kitchen window of the apartment of Antonio Castaneda, 32, and Jesus C. Gomez, 32. Taken from a bedroom were $200 in cash and $470 worth of jewelry, including two watches and a gold ring.

While P.L. Ronald Holliday was investigating the theft, he discovered that the apartment of Charles M. Wine, 31, on the same floor, had also been entered. Again, entry was made through a window from the fire escape. Ten silver dollars were stolen from Mr. Wine's apartment.

REFERENDUM FAILS

Voted Down, 2-1. By a vote of 1,168 to 687, Princeton voters turned thumbs down Tuesday night on the Princeton Regional School Board's proposal to acquire 25 acres of Snowdon Lane property as a possible site for a future school.

Legally, the board could hold the referendum again; however, in executive session Tuesday night, the board voted not to pursue the matter further "at this time."

None of the Borough's nine districts voted for the referendum. The measure carried only four of the Township's ten. "Yes" votes were counted in Township Districts Three, Four, Five and Nine. Three in the Western Way area where many University families live. Four is the Valley Road area north of the high school; Five is around Littlebrook School and Nine is in Riverside.

The heaviest Township "no" vote (137-68) was cast in District Six, across Snowdon Lane from the proposed site and the district of the referendum's chief opponent, T. B. Fisher, District Ten, which backs up to the site, voted 128 "no" votes to 53 "yes" tallies.

"The board is disappointed, of course," said its president, John Marks, after the results were in. "We regarded purchase of the land as a prudent course of action for the future when another elementary school will certainly be needed, and we're sorry we were

"Know Your Town"

Two comments on the Princeton community were made Tuesday night after the school referendum results were in.

When school board president John Marks said he'd met a lot of people who didn't even know a school referendum was pending, one citizen, who had been waiting with the rest in the Princeton High office for results to be announced, characterized Princetonians as "New York Times illiterates."

"People in this town can tell you exactly what's going on in Pakistan and what the New York City mayoral race is about, but they don't know a thing about Princeton."

A second observer suggested that the "no" vote didn't solely reflect the land purchase but also against the Wednesday Program, Superintendent Philip E. McPherson, the abortive naming of Raymond F. Malt as high school principal and whatever personal problem the voter had with the school system.

REAR GUARD: A pair of bronze tigers (another at the right is not shown in this picture) has been installed on the central mall at the rear of Nassau Hall. The work of the American sculptor Brainer Moore, they are the gift of Hugh T. Adams of New York, a member of the Class of 1935.

unable to persuade the community."

"I don't think this vote means the community is opposed to long-range planning," he said. "I think it means people just didn't want the Snowdon Lane site. Also, I heard many people say the board shouldn't be speculating in real estate." He added that he had talked with many who didn't even know there was a referendum.

The board will lose the $7,000 three-and-one-half month option on the largest portion of the site, that belongs to the Hall estate. No agreement was ever signed with Mr. and Mrs. Holmes Hutson, who own the rest, so no option money is involved. The Hutsons and the board hadn't yet come to an agreement on setback footage.

When the Township Planning Board granted the school board's request to put the Snowdon site on the Master Plan map, the planners stipulated that if the referendum failed, the school board must go back to the planning board and have the site wiped off the map.

BOY SAVES MOTHER

In Cherry Valley Road Fire. An early morning fire last week destroyed more than half of the home of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Benedict of Cherry Valley Road. Although the house was lost, no lives were in large part to some acts of bravery by the Benedict children, Jimmy II, and Carol.

Princeton volunteer firemen were called to the scene by a neighbor, Mrs. P. Arvid Knudsen, at 2:55 Friday morning. A general alarm was sounded and Princeton volunteer firemen were aided by members of the Montgomery Township Fire Department, which arrived first at the blazing house, located between the Great Road and Province Line Road.

The blaze was believed to have been started by a defective electric range in the kitchen. Fed by book shelves, the fire spread to the roof. It was difficult for firemen to reach and contain.

Township police reported that half the house, including the kitchen and attic, were destroyed.

Dog Awakens Girl. One of the heroes, according to Mrs. Knudsen, was the Benedict's dog, Maria, a black, black poodle and collie, which first smelled the smoke and awakened the little girl, who in turn awakened her brother. Mr. Benedict was away at the time of the fire, police said.

The girl and the dog then walked from her house, in the pitch black night through 500 feet of dense woods. Mrs. Knudsen said, to awaken the Knudsens who immediately called the police.

Meantime, Jimmy had awakened his mother who found the kitchen ablaze. She got a pail of water and threw it on the fire and started to go back a second time. All she remembers after that was "feeling dizzy and faint," she later told Ptl. Michael Kopliner, first to arrive on the scene.

Ptl. Kopliner reported that when he and Ptl. Mario Musso arrived, Mrs. Benedict had been pulled from the house by Mr. Knudsen. "She was coughing badly and had poor color," he said. "We immediately gave her oxygen."

Mrs. Benedict was taken by ambulance to Princeton Hospital where she was treated and released that morning.

Talking with Jimmy Benedict, Ptl. Kopliner learned that after his mother had passed out, he dragged her from the kitchen to a bedroom, the full length of the house, and had managed to prop her face up against a window when Mr. Knudsen arrived.

"I don't know how he did it, but he did some job for an 11-year-old boy," Ptl. Kopliner said. "His mother is here today because of him."

"Hero and Heroine." "They were both hero and heroine, truly," commented Mrs. Knudsen. "It was rather a fantastic morning for us, to say the least," she added.

LIGHTS! ACTION!

At Princeton High. The talents of students, faculty and townspeople will combine for mutual enrichment in a new theatre program at Princeton High School.

The first full-length production will be Lorraine Hansberry's "Raisin in the Sun," to be given the weekend of October 31, but the company will actually be launched with a pair of one-acters on October 16-17: Jonico's "The Lesson" and John Carlin's "The Dirty Old Man."

"The Repertory Theatre" will be composed of students and of adults drawn from faculty and community. "The On-stage Players" will be composed entirely of students, led by Dan Schay and Jim Peskin, and open to any student who wants to investigate the excitement of the theatre.

Producer, Don Evans, of the high school faculty, is running the show.

"In the past," he says, "we've given token support to 'community-centered' high school theatre, but after two years of tip-toeing, we feel certain that now we really can give kids the best possible exposure for the least amount of money AND with a definite educational focus."

the dates for that one will be announced, too—in plenty of time.

The Cast: The Repertory Theatre's "Company" Directors will be in addition to Mr. Evans, William Cook, who is acting head of the English department at Princeton High School, and two students: Dan Schay, who received two acting awards in a recent Roper college competition and has also received PHS prizes, and Jim Peskin, who received a student acting award in the Rider College competition.

Faculty performers will be Georgine Hall, a member of Actor's Equity who has been a member of the McCarter company and has appeared frequently on radio and television; David Mackey, art specialist for the public schools and a Princeton Community Player; Peggy Henning, of the Middle School faculty, an actress with considerable professional theatre experience; Carolyn Adams, who's in charge of the PHS student lounge and will make her acting debut in "Raisin in the Sun"; Robert Arbogast, chemistry teacher; and William Humes, math teacher.

DIRECTORS NAMED

For McCarter's Plays, Five directors from last season will be back this year to direct a few of the offerings in McCarter's tenth season of professional repertory. Arthur Lithgow, executive director of the theatre, will start the season by directing Harold Pinter's "The Birthday Party" for the opening night, October 17.

"Pygmalion," the Bernard Shaw perennial, will be directed by Brendan Burke, who did "Plough and the Stars" last year. Mr. Burke promises a production dressed in the fashion of the 1930s.

Robert Blackburn will return as actor-director, and his directorial assignments are Steinbeck's "Of Mice and Men" and O'Neill's "Ah, Wilderness!" Last season, Mr. Blackburn directed "Charley's Aunt" and "The Scarecrow."

Tom Brennan will come back for "The Firebugs," by the contemporary Swiss, Max Frisch, and he will also collaborate with Arthur Lithgow on Shakespeare's "Troilus and Cressida," which is the final production of the series, due next spring.

John Lithgow, son of Arthur (remember last year's "As You Like It?") will be a permanent member of the company this year. He will direct the work in Shakespeare's "Much Ado About Nothing," and he will also stage the Congreve Restoration comedy, "The Way of the World."

TWO MORE REVIVALS In Film Series "Lost in the Flies" and "Accident" will be shown at McCarter this weekend as the second pair in the theatre's pre-season revival program.

"Lord of the Flies" will be screened this Friday at 11 a.m. along with a couple of shorts: W. C. Fields again, this time in "The Plumber" and a documentary short about the

"YOU CAN GO WILD!"
 Bags Eod Opens. A leather-craft shop — where you can take your ideas or adopt theirs — celebrated its opening with a bottle of champagne last week in its tiny headquarters at the corner of Olden and Williams Streets, across from the Engineering Quadrangle. Bag Ends' youthful proprietors, Judy Woodward and Tom Morris, are turning out belts with saddle buckles, bags, pouches, earrings, chair covers, wristbands, sandals, even dog collars — all distinctive.

BAGS END: Here's Judy Woodward and Tom Morris in their cul-de-sac at Olden and Williams Streets where they custom make leather goods. That's "Shem" between them and the opening day bottle of champagne in the background. You're welcome to browse any day between 10 and 6. "There's a big revival among youth for the crafts," Judy odes. "Princeton probably needs this."

"Leather is easy to work with — you can just go wild!" Judy Woodward says with enthusiasm. "You can be so creative."
 They stain and work the leather themselves, and there's a playful, leathery smell to their shop. When you walk in, you'll find them working at the large counter that doubles as a workbench.
 "Everything is custom-made," Tom adds. "People choose what they want and we measure. They can even come in with a drawing."

"A lot of people have been asking for leather clothes. This is something I am going to do this weekend — make vests. Probably we will go into making skirts, the whole works." Judy trained for three summers at the Leather Shop in New Hope and more recently in Colorado for Leather Dimensions at Grand Lake and Vail.

Bora and brought up in Princeton, where she graduated from Princeton High School in 1964, she left the University of Pittsburgh after her junior year and turned to leathercraft. Last May, she came back from Colorado, worked in the University Store and spent her spare time making leather goods for the shop. Some of her early works have been available at the U Store and at Saturn.

Tom Morris, a classmate at Pittsburgh, was graduated last spring as a psychology major. He found out what Judy was doing and became interested in leather himself. "As soon as I tried it, I knew this is what I wanted to do."

He has turned out a leather cover for a wrought iron basket chair, sandals made in a heavy leather with a different treatment to the straps. And the male students at Princeton who've dropped in are intrigued with his fringed buckskin pouch that slides onto pants belts. Judy has made belt pouches for the girls.

"We didn't make them until customers came in and requested them," Judy comments. "A lot of the boys to day don't have back pockets in their bell bottoms."

Her belts are wide and heavy, a great accent for wooly tweed dresses and minis. Some are cutouts, others blend broad and rings or two tones of leather. "The saddle buckles are the best," she says firmly. "They're big and dull — just beautiful stuff. We're lucky to have found a place to get them. ($8 to $12)

The wrist bands — for your watch or to wear alone, are wide and interesting. They're priced from $3 to about $6.50. Her big pouch bags will carry

In "Lord of the Flies," director Peter Brook makes a film from William Golding's popular novel about English schoolboys who crashland on a deserted island.

"Accident" has been signed in for Saturday & 8. With this film, director Joseph Losey won the Best Film Award of the 1967 Cannes Film Festival. The script is by Harold Pinter. In the cast are Dirk Bogarde, Stanley Baker, Jacqueline Sassard and Michael York.
"The Pharmacist" will be shown with "Accident," too, so nobody gets cheated.
Tickets will be on sale at the box office after 10 a.m. the day of the showings.

PLAYERS TO MEET
First Production Planned.
The Princeton Community Players will hold its first meeting of the season Sunday, September 28, at 8:30 p.m. in the Little Theatre at the Unitarian Church, Clergy Hill Road. Plans for the coming season and the plays to be presented will be outlined. Entertainment will be provided by Theatre Intime. New members are welcome.

The first production of the season will be "Right You Are If You Think You Are," Luigi Pirandello's comedy. Production dates are November 11, 15, 21, and 22. The play examines the problem of the necessity of illusion and the falseness of truth.

The cast consists of seven men and seven women with ages ranging from 19 to 70. Several extras are also required. Director Lee Cohen is also seeking technicians and backstage workers. Open casting will be held at the Little Theatre Monday and Tuesday, September 28 and 30, at 8 p.m. As the evening's entertainment for the business members of Princeton University's Theatre Intime will give a performance of lo mecca's "The Lesson."

DOCUMENTARIES
In "New Cinema" Series. Social cinema will go under the microscope this season during McCarter's New Cinema Film Series for 1969-70. All programs will be shown at McCarter on Tuesday evenings at 8 p.m.
"Salesman" will open the lists on October 14. This is the documentary feature about door-to-door Bible salesmen. The Bayless brothers, who made the film, will be at the theatre in person to comment on their work.

Next, on October 28, will be "High School," whose message is: "High School life is a study in emptiness." "High School" was made by Frederick Wiseman whose "The Thin Blue Line" will be shown later in the year, on February 10. One of the most controversial documentaries in some ways, this film describes life behind the walls of the state prison hospital for the criminally insane in Bridgewater, Mass.

Other aspects of society will be examined in "The Queen," a documentary of a transvestite beauty pageant (November 11); The West Coast Underground, represented by a cross-section of films from these independent film-makers (January 14 — that one's on a Wednesday); Andy Warhol's "The Nude Restaurant," on February 24; "Warrendale," the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation film about a center for emotionally disturbed children; "Chronicle of Anna Magdalena Bach" (April 6 — a Monday); "David Holzman's Diary," a narcissistic-voyeuristic venture (April 14) and, as a final late-late show, an evening of TV commercials, without all the annoying interruptions of a story-line (April 28).

GARDEN, PRINCE, LINCOLN
Medium Cool (now playing). Blending reality and fiction, Haskell Wexler has made a powerfully disturbing film that represents a quasi-documentary of the 1968 Democratic National Convention in Chicago.

He uses actual footage in parts to picture the scene just prior to the convention, and as they occurred in Convention Hall and in police and crowd encounters in Grant Park.

His protagonist, a young TV cameraman, played by Robert Forster, plunges into many areas of newsmaking, turning from a talk with black militants to a training session with a riot squad. He moves on to other events of the day, finally to the tumultuous convention, its rare dialogue, rioting and brutalities.

A thread of story develops about halfway through the film, when the photographer becomes interested in a small boy and his young mother who have moved from West Virginia to a Chicago ghetto. Except for a made sequence, even the fictional episodes carry a feeling of authenticity in Wexler's study of present-day violence.

PLAYHOUSE AND DRIVE-IN
The Loves of Isadora (now playing). Vonessa Redgrave plays Isadora Duncan in this biography of the legendary American dancer. She is dictating her memoirs in a hotel in Nice as the film opens, and a series of flashbacks reveal the highlights of her sensational career.

Perhaps the picture's biggest problem is that director Karl Reiner (McMasters) never develops a point of view on Isadora. One sees her as an ambitious young artist, an arrogant mistress, a devoted mother, a foolish woman and as a middle-aged harpy — but the insights are lacking. The seriousness of Isadora's purpose and the personal tragedies that transformed her into a pathetic and flighty alcoholic never reach us.

Her exploits were world famous, aided by her stage appearance, her daring costumes, the novelty of her interpretive dance, and her succession of lovers. Four of these men are described in varying detail: stage designer Gordon Craig (James Fox); tuxedo Paris singer (Jason Robards) her

This is not the only tradition found in the bakery. They use top grade ingredients with generous amounts of butter and fresh milk, and with the baking done on the premises you have that added touch of being home-made.

You will find many different kinds of bread such as cheese, oatmeal, potato and the unusual English mullin bread.

found out anything about our guitar player yet? "Diana hangs up and reports, "Diana says she and her husband can do the music in the show."

He's currently directing a performance of "Spoon River Anthology" for the Hunterdon County Repertory group. There is a 60-year-old woman among those who responded to our newspaper notice of new faces needed. She's marvelous!

Paul Rickolt talks theatre and modern design and music with equal aplomb. A graduate of St. John's College in Annapolis, he helped found Electra Records, serving as vice president for six or seven years. "Cynthia Gooding from Princeton was one of our early artists."

He taught English for a number of years, most recently at North Hunterdon, and it was through helping out at a friend's shop in New Hampton that he decided to open one of his own.

"I nearly went to San Francisco to open a drama book shop but I had made so many friends here that I decided I would really put down roots here."

Looking around his shop, while an artist's wife discusses business, you see the lovely contemporary pewterware designed by Daniel B. Bump of Newburyport, Mass., under the Beacon signature. It has a lovely luster and warmth, and you will find pleasure in seeing pewter in something other than colonial porringers, mugs and pitchers. The metal lends itself beautifully to modern design.

The Freight Station has hopes of getting through devious channels, the mushroom ceramics by Lorenzen. He has been working in Nova Scotia, where he's produced in ceramic some 400 of the nearly 2,000 varieties he says are to be found there.

For the owl cult, there are bowls, hangings table weights and other items, all featuring that inscrutable bird. We noticed the teak "slit drums" made by Roger Maren of Princeton, curious rectangular boxes in different sizes, with a mellow tone of great beauty.

From Finland, more mushrooms — that's a cult, too, among collectors — casseroles and enamelware bowls in white, with the fairytale-like mushrooms sketched in black.

There are beautiful items in Danish teak, and over in one corner, Paul Rickolt's latest discovery, Bangkok teak in marvelous, rough-textured bowls and trays of various sizes. Much less expensive than the Danish products. The huge salad bowl that will serve 50 (We're sure) is $21.50.

In the Danish teak, it is about $75. The Royal Copenhagen Christmas plates and year mugs are in. Someday, your granddaughters will be haunting the antique shops for them.

And you will like the Freight Station's clean-lined lamps, with simple, pure white shades.

The shop is open seven days a week, 10:30 to 5:50, so you can combine a visit with a pleasant drive.

CLEARING THE DECKS

At the Swater Shack, Flemington, near the junction of Route 202 and Route 31, you'll find the Sweater Shack, Aquarius about opposite the Shop-Rite supermarket.

Here, if you know your fabrics and name brands, you'll see a surprising assortment of sportswear. If you are mod-inclined, in the Aquarius section are the more brilliant things.

There's a wild sort of sale on now. "Business was slow in the summer, they told us. Name brand blazers, light weight and heavy sweaters, all available on the 'buy one, get one free' basis."

We noticed jumpers in, houndstooth wool, simple seerucker culottes, striped knits, attractive bonded jerseys, a three-piece suit in grey wool with a light tan cross bar. Pants suit outfits came in solid Copenhagen blue, or red, or pink.

Things range from a few at size 3 up to 24½. You'll notice that skirts and sweaters are often coordinates. There are men's tops and sweaters, too, in a section by themselves. If you know clothes, go on over.

An aftermath to the fire was the reported entry to the Benedict home a day later.

James Benedict, 38, told Township police after the fire he had taken most of his valuables to a neighbor's home and had stored what was left in the living room. He locked the living room and front door at 4 Friday afternoon.

When he returned the next afternoon at 2:30, he found the front door had been punched out and the living room door pried open.

Police said that it was impossible to say, what, if any thing, it had been taken. P.I. Jerry Offredo investigated.

DRUGS

Meeting This Thursday. Informally, so that everyone can have his say, will be the format of the municipally sponsored meeting on drugs to be held this Thursday at 8 p.m. in the John Witherspoon School.

The two mayors, Henry S. Patterson for the Borough and John D. Wallace for the Township, will lose a gain to see who presides. Borough Councilmen will all be there. So probably, will school officials, a representative of Princeton University and some members of the two police forces.

However, Mayor Wallace and Mayor Patterson underscored the fact that officials will be there to listen, and not make speeches.

No specific action will be taken at this meeting, Mayor Wallace emphasized; in fact, the two municipal bodies may agree that no action at all on their part is required.

"We do expect a meaningful move forward toward the solution of this problem," Mayor Wallace said. "We want people to go away from the meeting realizing they have a responsibility to help, and realizing, if the problem is in their area, that they are not a lone."

Both mayors visited Mercer County Juvenile Judge J. Wilson Noden to talk with him about the case. Judge Noden expressed his profound concern about the increased use of heroin, Mayor Patterson said, and suggested that greater coordination between various groups dealing with young people would be extremely valuable.

Judge Noden has agreed to talk with Councilmen and Committee members, and a date may be set shortly, Mayor Wallace said.

ALFERNES PAYS OFF

For W. Windsor Patrolman. This past June Patrolman Bruce Wauters, a member of the West Windsor Township Police Force, received the New Jersey Police Academic Plaque for graduating first in his class out of 82 members in the 118th Municipal Police Training Class. Early Monday morning P.I. Wauters demonstrated that he was highly capable of translating what he had learned into action.

Working the midnight to 8 a.m. shift Sunday night, the 23-year-old rookie patrolman was at the Penns Neck traffic circle when he spotted a 1973 rental truck traveling south on Route 1. The truck and its license number fitted the description given in a teletype alarm put out by state police at 5:12 a.m. concerning three men "wanted for homicide."

P.I. Wauters had read the message earlier while visiting East Windsor Township police headquarters. Although the license numbers matched, the message stated it was a New York license plate, and this was from Pennsylvania.

Nonetheless P.I. Wauters immediately began to tail the vehicle, while calling his dispatcher to have Lawrence Township police notified. He continued to radio his position back to headquarters, while following the truck down Route 1 at 40 to 50 m.p.h.

Finally at the Brunswick Circle, with Ewing, Lawrence and Trenton police all in position, P.I. Wauters used his "judgment" to order the truck to a halt, and got the men outside with their hands up without firing a shot.

The suspects were searched and handcuffed and taken to Trenton headquarters, where they were booked as fugitives and charged with possession of dangerous weapons. One was a resident of Newark and the other two were brothers living in Philadelphia.

The police reportedly found a shotgun, rifle and revolver in the truck along with more than $1,800 believed taken from the victims of a robbery at a Newark party given by Mice Devesse, candidate for Newark City Council for his workers. One worker, shot in the hip by one of the suspects, died later in a Newark Hospital.

A witness to the robbery managed to take down the license number of the truck but erroneously identified it as a New York plate.

Patrolman Wauters, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard S. Wauters, 2671 Main Street, Lawrenceville, has a brother, Allen, 31, who has been on the Lawrence Township police force for seven years.

GAME OF THE WEEK

Group Therapy — Or Is It A Game is for those who want to break down the barriers of alienation and anxiety that separates them from others but find it almost impossible to be strictly honest without some guide or excuse.

To play Group Therapy one has to be willing in some degree to expose his psyche, relax his defense and admit his anxieties, frustrations or jealousy. No one need become more vulnerable than he wishes but many will find honesty enlightening.

Players — three to eight — are asked to perform various tasks written on small cards which are printed in three colors to designate their progressive difficulty. Some sample directions are: "Pick a way in which you are phony and exaggerate it." "Tell each member of the group something you've learned about him while playing the game." "Hold each member of the group in a way which reflects how you feel about him." "Tell each member a significant way you are sensitive to him" and "Do something outrageous." The player is then judged by the others on the honesty of his response.

One longtime player of the game said, "People laugh a lot, sometimes weep and if they are really into it, learn a lot about people. It's a very loving situation." $6.95.

POLITICKING BY THE POOL: Dean W. Chase (left), Recreation Board Chairman, and Mayor John D. MUSIC In Princeton

RECITAL SCHEDULED
To Open University Concerts, Series I of the Princeton University Concerts will open its season with a joint recital by Grant Johannessen, pianist, and Zara Nelsova, violinist, October 13 at McCarter Theatre, at 8:30 p.m.

Grant Johannessen studied in New York, then in Europe with Robert Casadesu. Since his notable New York debut more than two decades ago, he has appeared with all the major American orchestras and has been frequently re-engaged with those of Europe and South America.

The third generation of a distinguished Russian musical family, Zara Nelsova was born in Canada, educated in England, and is now a citizen of the United States. She made her debut with the London Symphony at the age of 12 and since that time has regularly toured the U.S., Europe, and South America. In the fall of 1966, Miss Nelsova toured the Soviet Union, the first such tour of an American cello soloist.

The husband and wife team frequently give joint recitals. Last season they appeared on the West Coast, at the Metropolitan Museum of Art, and at the Tanglewood Festival.

Their program will be Beethoven: Sonata in A Major, Opus 69; Hindemith: Sonata (1948); and Chopin: Sonata, Opus 65. Single tickets for this and all other University Concerts for the season will go on sale at the McCarter Theatre Box Office October 6. Subscriptions to Series I and II are still available now. For information please call the concert office, 921-0433, 10 to 1 p.m. weekdays.

AUDITIONS ARE SET
For University Opera Club, The Princeton University Opera Club is now holding auditions for its fall and spring productions. Operas for the fall are still to be decided upon, and will be conducted by Gilbert Levine of the University Music Department.

The spring production, planned for May, will be Monteverdi's "L'Incoronazione Di Poppea," under the musical direction of Joshua Rifkin, Princeton graduate student and director of Nonesuch Records.

To arrange for an appointment, contact David Abramowitz, director of the club, c/o Music Department, Wardlaw Center, Princeton University, or call 432-1241 from 9 to 5.

AUDITIONS PLANNED
By Opera Association, The Princeton Opera Association will hold a workshop beginning next month, meeting once a week for 10 weeks. Singers interested in joining the workshop may arrange auditions.

OTHER PAPERS will run your closets, for half price, or for nothing if they do not sell. In 100% COTTON, you'll find more ads and better results.

The workshop will teach the basic working knowledge of how to act on stage. Several scenes are learned and performed and professional techniques are taught by the assistant conductor, Igor Chichanov. Anyone interested may phone Mrs. Jean Thomas of Bayard Lane or Mrs. Virginia Schley of Kingston Road.

CORRECTION

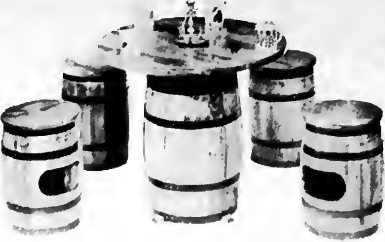

Because of a typographical error, the following copy in an advertisement for the PRINCETON STUDY CENTER did not appear correctly last week. It should have read as follows:

For the ninth year the PRINCETON STUDY CENTER offers free tutoring to any student (grades 6-12) requesting it. We need volunteers who can give two hours, once a week. Each year we help over 150 children. Don't worry if you're a bit rusty — you will be surprised how fast it all comes back.

In addition to tutors we would like volunteers to help supervise the evening study hall open to students needing a quiet place to do homework.

Changing of the Guard

Summer's over!
Sure was fun,
But autumn has it
On the run.

Tuesday, the first day of fall, was marked as usual by temperature savings of 25 degrees or more. Early-morning readings are around 50 these days, but by afternoon, they may be above 75.

That excess warmth is due to be cooled by showers, the Man reports. The rain should end Thursday, with a clearing trend that will last into the weekend. Breezy and a bit chillier, to emphasize the end of summer.

East Amwell Township last Friday, victims of carbon monoxide poisoning. State police reported finding a garden hose running from the vehicle's exhaust pipe into its rear window, indicating suicide.

A 13-state alarm was issued by Township Police on Tuesday when Mrs. Wooldridge and her son were reported missing by her husband, Derek, a chemical engineer with American Can. The white four-door station wagon was spotted parked on a secluded area of Stony Brook Road in the driveway of an old barn by Robert Smith, 47, of Stony Brook Road.

Mr. Smith, executive director of the general programs division of Educational Testing Service, told police he first saw the car Wednesday morning, and thought it might belong to a hunter. When he saw it still there early Friday morning while on his daily walk, he approached it and discovered the bodies of Mrs. Wooldridge and her son.

A private funeral service was held. The Wooldridges have one other son, Julian.

GIRL, 5, IS KILLED

Struck on Mercer Road. A 5-year-old girl, in kindergarten at Johnson Park School, was struck and killed by a car Tuesday morning while she and three small boys were waiting for a school bus at the corner of Mercer Road and Greenhouse Drive.

Pronounced dead on arrival at Princeton Hospital at 8:20 was Maria Economos, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew M. Economos, 35 Greenhouse Drive. Police said that she received severe head and chest injuries.

Police identified the driver as Mrs. Mildred N. Kell, 60, 487 Jefferson Road, who was alone in the car. She was heading for the motor vehicle inspection station on Route 1, police said.

Township police were notified of the accident at 8:10 by a call from Prof. Erling Dorf, 285 Mercer Road. Lt. Richard Steiner and Ptl. William Potts responded in separate cars.

When they arrived they found Borough Ptl. Bernice Lenhardt, closer to the accident scene, had arrived first and was applying mouth-to-mouth resuscitation to the victim.

"We took off immediately for the hospital," Lt. Steiner reported. "We saw that she had been hit hard and it was senseless to wait for an ambulance."

They slid the victim in the rear seat of Ptl. Potts' patrol car with Ptl. Lenhardt still applying mouth-to-mouth aid. Ptl. Potts and the other father rode up front. Ten minutes after police received the call, she was pronounced dead.

Lt. Steiner said they know of three others who were with Maria at the time of the tragedy. Her older brother, Mark, about 8, and two other boys, all waiting for the school bus. He added that the police have information from another witness that the victim was running back and forth across Mercer prior to the accident.

Lt. Steiner reported that the police have made no formal charges against Mrs. Kell. He did say there would be a Grand Jury inquest to determine if there was negligence—as in all death by auto cases.

"There is no physical evidence of any speeding," he continued. "The skid marks were very moderate for a panic stop and all the evidence indicates she was going at a modest rate of speed, quite a bit under the 15 mile per hour limit."

He reported that Mrs. Kell was in a state of shock and that police would try to get a statement from her later. The mother of the victim was also in a state of complete shock, he said.

Lt. Steiner remained behind to direct traffic. "There was a large gathering there when we arrived. Everyone was chaff-while and frozen. I could see new application and not a re they were all in a state of newal.

Both of the victim's parents were home at the time. According to police, Mr. Econo was employed in the research data analysis department of RCA. The couple have Frank Nuviera of Bordentown, lived in Princeton only a short time.

With the exception of the June 27 fatality of Joseph Miller, 27, of North Brunswick, who was found lying in the middle of Nassau Street early in the morning, a victim of a hit and run driver, police said it was the first pedestrian fatality in the Township in 12 years.

Mr. Sheehan has applied for a transfer of his liquor license from 190 Nassau, where his Brown Jug store used to be, to 363 Nassau where he is constructing a building. He also wants to sell the license to meet of RCA. The couple have Frank Nuviera of Bordentown, lived in Princeton only a short time.

At the September Borough Council meeting, municipal of officials held that Mr. Sheehan was, in effect, asking for a new license, because the one he held had expired and was not renewed in time.

Because of uncertainty about the wording in letters from the ABC, municipal attorney Gordon Griffin and Administrator Robert F. Mooney went in person to the ABC offices to ask for the clarification.

Mr. Sheehan's application is scheduled to come before Council on October 11. Under the new zoning ordinance, businesses like a restaurant are prohibited in the 363 Nassau neighborhood. Under the old zoning ordinance, a restaurant could not have been able to meet parking requirements.

TOWN TOPICS goes into every home and place of business in Princeton by their own figures, no other newspaper does half as well.

Some years ago, Mr. Sheehan tried to open a liquor store at the same site, but was denied his request because of neighbors' opposition. Residents of the area are expected to show up again on October 14.

Consolidation Backed

To the Editor of Town Topics:
As a relative newcomer to the community, I was somewhat surprised to find that the Township and Borough were two separate municipalities with the inherent duplication, confusion and additional expense that such a situation creates.

I was particularly pleased, therefore, when the Princeton Township Committee voted unanimously to adopt ordinances creating the Regional Planning Board with the Borough. Township Mayor John D. Wallace has taken an unequivocal stand for consolidation of the two Princetons, and the Regional Planning Board is certainly a step in the right direction.

Congratulations to Mayor Wallace and the Princeton Township Committee for their leadership in bringing consolidation closer to a reality.

Political Question

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Is it possible in a year when Princeton is faced with problems of severe drug use, traffic jams on Nassau Street, a dearth of recreational facilities, a burgeoning school population and a rising tax rate, that the Republicans can offer a statement in support of Philadelphia as the Bicentennial city as a campaign issue and still run ads proclaiming "We Care!"

Abstract

To encourage the Princeton Playhouse and Garden to book more "M," "R" and "X" motion pictures, I am writing this in response to your discussion last week of the difficulties of local film booking. A carbon copy of this is going to Mr. Knight at the Playhouse. I do hope he will reserve matinee screen time for the toddlers

However, I must complain that it is useless to show films for adult audiences and then find they have been censored—apparently by the distributor rather than any local action. For example:

"Last Summer" appeared at the Playhouse and at the Prince with a single word "beeped" out in an early scene and a few nippets of film removed from the final rape sequence. I saw the film in New York City and checked with friends to learn if it was tampered with in local showings.

If you saw the film in Princeton you didn't learn how to tell a boy seagull from a girl seagull. In the film, two teenaged boys have brief custody of an injured seagull.

In a good-natured, honest boyish exchange one boy asks of the other: "How do you tell a boy seagull from a girl seagull." From local screens came the following reply: "Boy seagulls have beep like you and I." There are at least two words and one boy's name that can be inserted at that point and are "dirty words" only when used in certain slang expressions.

The rape scene was very essential to the film's story and made use of nudity and suggestive actions only to the point to make the action convincing. But, some censor has a dirty mind.

NLCA Attacks Zoning Law, To the Editor of Town Topics:

For the past ten years, at least one member of the North Lawrence Citizens' Association has attended practically every public meeting of the three governing bodies of Lawrence Township. We should like to go on record regarding one particular feature embodied in that ordinance.

Article 6.50 opens up half of the area of our Township to commercial use, and doubles the area at present available for such use. We doubt if a small fraction of our residents realize the enormity of this proposal. Up to this time they have been able to consider our Township with its picturesque reminders of its historical past a good place to establish a home.

Article 6.50 invites office and research industry to flood into the choicest residential area of our Township under the guise of tax relief for home owners—a clear cut policy of fiscal zoning for the benefit of commercial exploiters.

In its May 28 issue, the Trenton Times carried a press release from Mr. Joseph Dale Paez, Chairman of the Planning Board. In it he proposed taking steps to preserve the historical characteristics of Lawrenceville. Actually, Lawrenceville Village is a small part of our heritage which calls urgently for attention if a preservation program is to be undertaken.

We still have with us 68 of the picturesque old houses which contribute so much distinctive character to our Township. 31 of them were built before the end of the 1700's, most of them of stone from the old Town Quarry, or of brick. Of the 68, half are in the area in which this ordinance opens up for commercial exploitation.

NOTICE

TOWN TOPICS will make every effort, based on space limitations, to publish up to 500 words of any letter on a subject directly affecting the Princeton area. Because of the volume of news which must be covered at the community level, letters on topics of a national or international nature cannot be considered.

Letters to Mailbox should be typewritten if possible, double-spaced, and must be signed for publication. These received later than Monday afternoon may be held for use the following week.

It would seem that Mr. Dale Paez's meritorious suggestion has two aspects. On the one hand he wishes to preserve our historical heritage. On the other, the Planning Board is passing on to the Township Committee for final approval a provision which in time will destroy these visible landmarks of the Township's early history. We cannot have it both ways.

Either the area in which these historic houses are located will be closed to further exploitation and remain residential, or in time there will be no historical heritage to preserve because the old houses will have disappeared. This is essentially the fate years ago of many old houses in the southern part of the Township, or who will he hidden by office and research complexes dotting our rural area. We who are here now, and justly, deserve better treatment than this from a Township government which is tramvay in its tenure.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Outward bound traffic in the 25 mph zone on Mercer Street slowed in rubberneck and bright and fresh autumn morning last week at the sickening plight of a lovely brown and white dachshund half grown dog standing among the leaves, head drooping, trying to catch the eye of a speeding warm flow from its nostrils and jaws into its forelegs. A policeman was helplessly holding the other end of a makeshift line.

How can pet owners equate the peril of traffic with whole some freedom? For the gratification of being loved and trusted by an animal, the loved one offers not even simple physical safety it seems. Worse, most pet owners can't admit that their last animal "got hit."

It is increasingly assuring to see an animal (dog) on a leash these days. It is merely annoying to see one playing roulette against the cruel odds of today's often wantonly motorist.

Courage from a Wheelchair: "I Was Lucky!"

"Appointment desk — may I help you?" The easy, cheerful voice that greets you when you call the Princeton Medical Group for a doctor's appointment comes from Mrs. Lorraine Hagadorn who's had enough doctors' appointments of her own to last anybody's lifetime.

Mrs. Hagadorn has been paralyzed from the waist down since an automobile accident in July, 1967. The accident that broke her back also broke her head, cracking it open like a doll's head dropped on the sidewalk.

But her spirit? Not a scratch. For more than a year, Mrs. Hagadorn was in hospitals — chiefly Princeton Hospital — and rehabilitation centers. Then, exactly one year ago, in late September, 1968, she rolled her triumphant wheelchair back to the job she had held since 1964 at the appointments desk in the Medical Group office.

"The way I look at it, I'm lucky," they never expected me to pull through at all. And I'm lucky not to have any brain injury — why, I don't even get headaches!"

Off to Work. A dauntly woman with a grin on her face as she looks in her eye, Lorraine Hagadorn maneuvers herself each morning into the 1964 Buick Wildcat, parked next to her modern ground-floor apartment just outside Hightstown. (The builder of the apartment constructed that ramp for her).

Hand-controls installed in the Buick respond to her confident touch. By 9 a.m., she has made the trip along the Princeton-Hightstown Road to the Medical Group Building on Witherspoon Street.

The security guard greets her, and helps her up the curb and the ramp built just for her by the Medical Group. At 4 a.m., the procedure is reversed and back to Hightstown she goes.

I Love You, Doctors! Mrs. Hagadorn's doctor employers hovered anxiously over her convalescence and jubilantly welcomed her back to her job. "In that 11 months at Princeton Hospital, I got to know doctors I never heard of before, and I thought I knew 'em all. They'd stick a head in my door — 'how ya doin', sport?' they'd ask — 'well!' — they were wonderful."

The doctors who cared for her are people Mrs. Hagadorn will revere and love all her life: Dr. Edward Casey, who saved a single leg before; Dr. Stanley Rosenberg, the physiatrist who guided her physical therapy; Dr. Gerhard Puchner, the plastic surgeon who did eight operations and three skin grafts to restore her face ("he moved my eyebrow down," she says casually); Dr. Barton Stevens and Dr. James Plautz. She names them lovingly, like old and very dear friends.

"The marvelous care I got in Princeton Hospital — I'm honest to God, I wouldn't have come this far this fast without the doctors and nurses there."

Loving Care. "They moved me here to Princeton after one month in a Trenton hospital. I was in Princeton Hospital for months and do you know, I never saw a single bed-sore? When I went down to Philadelphia to a rehabilitation hospital, they didn't believe me!"

"But I tell you, those Princeton nurses turned me in bed every two hours around the clock every single day, and that's why I never got bed-sores. Those things can be horrible."

I had this circle bed that can be turned. Well, they gradually lifted me and the bed until I was almost standing for a about 20 minutes at a time. And then, in October, they put me in a wheelchair for the first time."

"MAY I HELP YOU?" From her wheelchair in the offices of the Princeton Medical Group, Mrs. Lorraine Hagadorn works at her full-time job as appointments secretary for the Group's doctors. (Slaff Photo) at first it was awful I had no balance, no posture, no no partment bathroom door wide enough to take the wheelchair. "My God," I thought, "I'll never be able to sit up!"

"But every day, twice a day, I got exercises. I think I may have been the first paraplegic to start on Princeton Hospital's new therapy program, but I'm not sure."

"They did range-of-motion exercises, moving my legs, and they made ME work! A paraplegic needs strength in the arms, you know, and a woman really has to work because she doesn't have muscles already developed, like a man. I did bar-bell exercises in bed, and they made me get down on a mat and do push-ups and sit-ting exercises."

"The big thing Dr. Casey and Princeton Hospital believe in, is self-help. After a while, they allowed me in the elevator alone, to go to the therapy room. Nurses would gasp 'You supposed to be in this elevator by yourself?' But that trip was part of my training."

Cheers! During these months Lorraine Hagadorn became a kind of hospital staff member. More than 20 roommates came and went over the 11 months. One of them, with a painful injury, remembers Mrs. Hagadorn gratefully as a woman whose gutsy cheerfulness lifted her own low morale.

"Those nurses I got to be kind of a den mother; they'd bring me their problems with boyfriends or parents, and some of them still come to a chat, either to my house or stopping by here at the Medical Group."

"And my friends! Why, I got over 400 cards, and you know, four of my friends set up a little fund for me? I never knew about it until they handed me the bank-book at Christmas-time."

In January, long-leg braces were fitted. A paraplegic with paralysis as high on the torso as Mrs. Hagadorn's can't walk very long on braces because the fatigue is too great. And a small foot blister, slow to heal because circulation is impaired, has kept Mrs. Hagadorn off leg braces altogether for some months.

"My real goal now is to get back to leg braces and a walker. I've applied to the Kessler Rehabilitation Center up in the Oranges, and they say they can get me back on braces. Then, you see, I could stand at a kitchen sink, and walk a little around the house."

"Rehab." Is Great. Next to the doctors and to Carol Keyes, the Princeton Hospital therapist ("she still comes to see me —"), Mrs. Hagadorn's highest praise is for the state's rehabilitation service.

"I'd never even heard of these people before my accident. But they paid thousands for my hospital treatment, they paid for hand-controls in my car, for the apartment ramps, my wheelchair, my braces, that special car. I've got in my kitchen and ex-

Home-life goes along, in relatively normal style. Mrs. Hagadorn and her husband have a son, separated for some time before the accident, the six Hagadorn children are now 13 to 21, and only four still live at home. Mrs. Hagadorn's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Housner, live near by.

While Mrs. Hagadorn was still in the hospital, Dr. Casey came to the apartment to talk with the kids and explain how it was with their mother. Later, he took Mrs. Hagadorn in to New York to see, at the Rusk Institute, that there are many other paraplegics just

"As far as we're concerned, they are attached dwellings with the exception of two units which we feel are multiple dwellings," said the engineering department spokesman.

Red Cross Tries Again. In another case, the Princeton Chapter of the American Red Cross will try again to relocate its headquarters from University Place.

It has an agreement of sale to purchase an existing home at 21 Markham Road which is located in an R-3 zone. The Red Cross needs from the board a conditional use permit if it is deemed to be a philanthropic institution under the zoning ordinance, a classification which the Planning Board has apparently accepted.

In addition to office use, the Red Cross will hold meetings at the Markham address.

Attorney Sydney Sauter, in a third case, will ask for a recommendation for a use variance to locate his law office on the first floor of 19 VanDusen, an historical dwelling formerly occupied by Ardis Leigh.

Part of Mr. Sauter's offices will spill over to the second floor, the remainder would be used for a luxury apartment.

MAN OF THE WEEK: William K. Selden, for his proposal that a Community Forum be created to foster lower-town relations.

A law office is not a permitted use in the R-4 zone in which the house is located; hence the need for a variance.

Also seeking a recommendation for a use variance will be Paul E. Harvey, owner of a building at 157 Witherspoon Street.

The building is located in a residential business zone which permits joint occupancy, provided the business portion does not claim more than 40 percent of the floor area.

Mr. Harvey wishes to rent his entire first floor to a retail business which would occupy 35 percent of the available floor area.

FACULTY TO SPEAK

At Wednesday Program five speakers from the Princeton University faculty will address the Princeton Regional Schools' "Wednesday Program" on the five Wednesday evenings in October.

The public is invited to attend all the lectures and there is still room in the Wednesday Program itself for residents of the community to sign up and participate.

Marvin Bressler of the department of sociology will inaugurate the series on Wednesday, October 1, with a talk on "Sociology Today." He will speak at 1:30 p.m. in the John Witherspoon School auditorium.

Dr. Aaron Lemnick of the physics department will be the October 8 speaker; John Darley of the psychology department will speak on October 15; Sheldon Hackney, history, on October 22 and James Borg, political science, on October 29.

Subjects of each speaker will be announced.

DIRECTOR APPOINTED
By Youth Center, Ralph D.
Mitchell, a former Boy Scout executive, has been appointed executive director of the Princeton Youth Center, Joseph Moore, Youth Center president, has announced.

Mr. Mitchell, 27, has already assumed responsibility for direction of all activities at the center. The community is invited to meet him at Sunday's open house, scheduled from 10 to 7 p.m.

A native of Madison, Wis.,
Mr. Mitchell is a graduate of Knoxville College, where he

Ralph Mitchell

majoried in education, with psychology a special field of interest. At Knoxville, he played varsity basketball and tennis.

Following graduation, he became associated with the Boy Scouts of America, serving as an assistant district scout executive in the Greater New York Council.

Entering the Army in 1966,
Mr. Mitchell attended Officer Candidate School and subsequently participated in NATO exercises in Greece. He also served in Germany, and was a liaison officer to the ROTC Training Camp at Fort Riley,
Kans., where he coordinated
support for a contingent of
some 4,000 ROTC cadets. He was discharged from the Army
this past July.

The Princeton Youth Center, located at 102 Witherspoon Street, and currently in its second year of operation, is designed to help high school age youth realize their desire for a drop-in facility with an un-structured program.

Its goal is to provide a place responsive to their needs and interests, and to promote activities run for and by the youth with appropriate assistance and stimulation from adults to whom they can relate.
The Center, endorsed by both Princeton Borough and Township, is supported by private individuals and groups.

CHINESE PHILOSOPHIES

To Be Studied. A small group for the study of Chinese philosophies will be organized under the auspices of the YMCA
as part of the Y's general program. The group will hold its first meeting Sunday at 8 p.m.
under the leadership of Richard P. Wang, M.D., a practicing psychiatrist in Princeton, who was trained at Johns Hopkins and Cornell, and who is able to read the Chinese classics in their original texts. The group will meet once a week or once every two weeks, to be decided upon by the group members themselves at their first meeting.

Members are required to do serious study of the designated texts between meetings. The main text used will be Lao-tse,
the Book of Tao (Tao Teh Ching), according to Lin Yu-tang's translation in "The Wisdom of China and India," Modern Library, although Dr.
Wang may also use his own translation from the original Chinese text from time to time.
This study group is not a psychotherapeutic group, nor is it intended to be a form of group psychotherapy.

Persons interested in joining the group may contact Walter Kans, where he coordinated
support for a contingent of
some 4,000 ROTC cadets. He
was discharged from the Army
this past July.

THURSDAY OPENING SET FOR ADULT SCHOOL. The fall term of the Princeton Adult School will begin Thursday at 8 p.m. at the High School.
Adult School chairman Robert Staples reminds those planning to attend that parking is severely limited around the school, and car pools should be planned wherever possible.
An extra 10 to 15 minutes
should be left to allow time for parking and walking to the school and finding the room where your class meets.
Dr. Gerald W. Breece, Professor of Sociology and Director of the Bureau of Urban Research at Princeton Univ., will head the p.m. lecture series, entitled Urban Dynamics.
And because he envisions the lecturers and their subjects to be in vital he has made provision for those who are interested to continue the discussions in another part of the High School when the lecture officially ends.

He feels the series is designed to give those attending a general introduction to the urban scene in the United States, but it will also be put into the context of world urbanization in the newly developing countries. This will be an opportunity for members of the community to hear experts who live here and who lecture all over the world, but infrequently here. Professor Breece's topic is "Prosper-ities of the Urban World."

He has been a member of Princeton since 1949 and is a graduate and has received degrees from Ohio Wesleyan,
Yale, University of Southern California and his Ph.D. from University of Chicago. His department at the university was created to provide a mechan-

Dr. Peter D. Wright

ism to integrate information in the fields pertaining to urban planning, an understanding of the activities which go together to form a city.

He has taught in England,
Egypt, India, South Africa, etc.
and has written many books and articles on the subject. He has served on several national,
state and local committees dealing with urban problems and urban research and for many years has been a member of the Princeton Township Planning Board.

The second hour lecture series entitled the Music of the Baroque will cover a period of many contrasts. It encompassed the "baroque" madrigals of Monteverdi and the "welcome songs" of Purcell. It included the monumental choruses of Gabrieli and Haydn as well as the monodies of the Florentine Camerata. Yet was consistent also in its emphasis on melodic expres-sivity, its reliance on the harmonic foundation of the basso contino, and its preoccupation with contrast of tone colors.

For the first time instrumental music rose to a level of prominence equal to that of vocal music, notwithstanding the innovations in opera, oratory, and cantata. The virtuoso performer appeared on the scene. The era produced in-Schubert and Bach history's foremost composers of Lutheran sacred music, and organ composition never again reached the consistently high level of Baroque composers from Prescott and Sweelinck
through Bach and Handel.
Dr. Peter D. Wright of Wesminster Choir College is the coordinator of this series and the first lecturer, whose topic is Monteverdi. Dr. Wright

Dr. Gerald W. Breece

graduated from Juniata College and received his M.A.
and Ph.D. from the Eastman School of Music. Before coming to Princeton in 1964, he had served as Choir Director, Organist - Director, teacher and Opera Coach in various areas.

DRUG ADDICTS TO SPEAK.
AT YWCA SERIES. Drug addicts "telling it like it is" will open a four part Contemporary Issues series at 8 p.m., Wednesday, Oct. 1 at the YWCA.

Scheduled for the first four Wednesdays in October, and sponsored by the YWCA's Public Affairs Committee, the series will also present two sessions on migrant labor in New Jersey (Oct. 8 and 15) and will conclude with a program on black student unrest (Oct. 22).

The entire series is open to the public at no charge.
Mr. Harold Rogue, Jr., a member of the Drug Addict Treatment Center, will moderate the panel of addicts, all of whom are under treatment for heroin addiction in a program of methadone maintenance administered by the Drug Dependency Clinic of the Neuro-Psychiatric Institute. This program controls the need for heroin by precise doses of methadone.

Volunteers from those receiving treatment in this program have spoken to more than 8,000 students and 5,000 adults, and participated in five community drug seminars, since May.

Mr. Rogue joined the New Jersey Department of Correction in 1952, and the Neuro-Psychiatric Institute in 1967.
He is now supervisor of security, recreation, and public relations for the Treatment Center.

PLACED ON PROBATION

In Bad Check Charge, in Borough criminal court last week, Louis R. Spruill, 23, of Highway 27, was placed on probation for six months for cashing a worthless check for bert R. Milian was the complainant.

In another case, Judge Theodore F. Tams sentenced James R. Dalton, 47, of Trenton to 60 days in the Mercer County Workhouse — which he suspended — and placed him on a year's probation. Dalton

STUART NAMES TWO To Newly-Created Positions.

Stuart Country Day School has announced appointments for two newly created positions. Thomas J. Fulton, 44 Rolling road, has been appointed Curriculum Coordinator and Mrs. John Plorkiewicz of Fleming, Chairman of the Physical Education Department.

For the past ten years, Mr. Fulton has been a curriculum specialist and Chairman of the Social Studies Department at Summit High School, New York.

He completed four years of college in 2½ years at Iowa and received his Masters Degree at New York University in 1922. Mr. Fulton completed the equivalent of two years beyond his masters at Columbia, Syracuse, Alabama, Seton Hall and the University of Javeriana, Bogota, Colombia.

He taught virtually every discipline in the social studies field, and courses in mathematics and English. His 16 years' experience includes responsibilities as a teacher, administrator, supervisor, and consultant.

Mrs. Plorkiewicz for the last 13 years has been teaching health, physical education, and science courses at grade and high school in New Jersey. A graduate of Douglass College, her assignment since 1961 has been at the Central School and high school in Parsippany. Prior to that she was at the Lane Branch Junior High School from 1956 to 1960.

The meetings to be held in the Woodrow Wilson School will focus on the uses of aerial and earth-orbiting systems in such fields as geology, cartography, oceanography, forestry, hydrology and meteorology. Also under discussion will be the technological advances which make remote sensing of earth resources possible, and the national, international and economic aspects of earth resources satellites.

BOOK FAIR SCHEDULED

At Chapin School. The fourth annual Chapin School book fair will be held Monday, through Thursday, October 2 at the school on Mercer Road. Also scheduled is the annual buffet and back to school night for parents, Tuesday, at 6:30 p.m.

VOLUNTEER WORK ENDS

For 47 "Candy Strippers." Fifty-seven junior volunteers are returning to nine area high schools after devoting a portion of their summer vacations to helping patients at Princeton Hospital and Merwick School.

Known as "Candy Strippers" because of their bright red and white-striped uniforms, the girls manned the visitors' information desk, delivered mail and flowers arriving for patients, walked many miles of hospital corridors as couriers and assisted patients and the regular personnel in dozens of ways, according to Mrs. Deborah L. Livingston, director of Volunteers.

Several of the girls will continue to serve on weekends and holidays during the school year," she said, "but, we can use more Candy Strippers and interviews of girls 16 or older continue."

CHAPIN COURSE SET
At Art Association, David Chapin will teach a course in "Drawing and Painting: Portrait, Draped Figure and

and evenings at the Princeton Art Association. Instruction is aimed at helping both beginning and advanced students to realize an integrated, forceful image.

Mr. Chapin, who has worked in many media, specializes in painting the human figure. His current work is characterized by a highly individual linear approach and bold, direct color. Mr. Chapin received his art training at Cornell University School of Architecture,
the Hans Hofman School of Fine Arts, and with Susami
Hidai, calligraphic master.

He has lived and worked in Mexico and Europe and maintains a studio in New York.
From 1949 to 1952 he was on the art faculty of Illinois Wesleyan University. He has exhibited extensively in one-man and group shows in this country and abroad, and has been the recipient of numerous awards including the Fairmount Park Fountain competition in 1964.

Mr. Chapin will have a one-man show at the Helmingway Galleries, 243 E. 60th Street in New York from October 5 to 25.

tman and John Drury.

Mr. Goreleigh's summer
workshops feature painting tours around the Princeton and Hopewell areas, and Grovers
Mill was part of the '68 tour.
This is the first display of a particular location at the Gore-leigh studio.

SPORTS In Princeton

THE FIRST 100 YEARS . . .

May Not Be the Hardest in its first century of football, Princeton won 90% of its opening games, most of them by lopsided scores. When the Tigers return to New Brunswick Saturday, to commemorate the occasion which launched the sport in 1869, they will begin their second 100 years with the toughest opening assignment a Princeton team has ever faced.

A veteran Rutgers squad, polished beyond Ivy League capabilities as the result of spring practice and a contest last week to iron out opening game mistakes, is ready and eager to repeat its historic post-Civil War triumph over its New Jersey neighbor. Victors here last fall, the Scarlet went on to a fine 8 and 2 season, and will have a good chance of finishing unbeaten this year if it trims the Tiger Saturday.

Rutgers Stadium has been a 31,000-seat sellout for months, including some 7,000 temporary accommodations, and there is every likelihood that if the game had been planned here, Palmer Stadium (Channels 6 and 7) will televise the contest—and, inevitably, has selected the time for the kickoff: 1:30.

Never in this section of the nation, where the winter climate prohibits the staging of post-season bowl extravaganzas, has there been so much ceremonial planning in preparation for a football game (see opposite page). Fortunately for the spectator who wants more than anything else on a fall Saturday afternoon to see a good football game, the contest itself should be able to dominate the program.

Burden on Tiger Defense: The outcome of the historic meeting will hinge largely on whether the experienced Princeton defense can contain Rutgers' powerful attack sufficiently to keep the Tiger offense within range of making a ball game out of it. When the material is available, a defense almost invariably jells faster than the offensive platoon. To

SECRET WEAPON IN THE OPEN: When Princeton needs a little extra speed in the backfield against Rutgers Saturday, it may insert Rob Bordley, part of whose number (18) is showing. Only 5-7 and 148 pounds, he's the fastest man on the Tiger team. Other ball carriers in the back row are

Parade, Pageantry to Mark Centennial Game

NOVEMBER 6, 1869 Fifty players, 25 to a side, from Rutgers and Princeton played the game which has been called the first in a century of intercollegiate football. In Saturday's re-enactment, Rutgers' Delta Phi fraternity and Princeton's Ivy Club will write a new story, in which the Scarlet may not again prove to be a 6-4 victor.

With time out for a little sleep, the festivities planned to mark the 100th anniversary of the Princeton Rutgers football game in New Brunswick next week will run for almost 24 hours.

At 7 o'clock Friday evening, a mammoth parade will begin a three-and-a-half mile tour of New Brunswick and the Rutgers campus. Included in the line of march: 15 bands and other musical groups; 20 floats, numerous celebrities and 5,000 participants.

Float themes will include the first Rose Bowl (1901); the first forward pass (1906); the Four Horsemen (1924); Roy Riegels, who ran the wrong way to fame in the Rose Bowl game of 1929; and the fifth down game between Cornell and Dartmouth in 1940. Among the marchers will be Rutgers alumni "Sonny" Werb in, one-time owner of the New York Jets, and Ozzie Nelson, one-time band leader, who next day will be master of ceremonies during pre-game and half-time shows in the Stadium.

The parade will be followed by a reception for all participants in front of Old Queens on the Rutgers campus. From 10:15 to 11, a huge pep rally will be staged.

Saturday morning (11 a.m.) will be marked by a re-enactment of the 1869 game which began it all — on November 6 in New Brunswick. For the victorious Scarlet, 25 members of Delta Phi, Rutgers' oldest fraternity, will meet 25 members of Princeton's oldest club, Ivy. The site, a field adjacent to Rutgers Stadium.

Contestants will wear uniforms strikingly similar to the dress of the players in the game a century ago, which Rutgers won, 6 to 4. Participants in the occasion will include spectators dressed as those were in the post-Civil War era.

For the first 15 minutes, the soccer-style rules which guided the action in the first game will be followed. The second half of play will adopt the Rugby style of football, which allows running with the ball and free kicks.

In deference to the rivalry which has existed between the two universities for five score years, it has been decided to abrogate the script which, in the interests of historical accuracy, would have required the game to end in Rutgers' favor. Princeton, in effect, will have a chance to win the Saturday morning pageant.

Pre-game ceremonies will include such frills as three separate coin tosses — the first with an 1869 silver dollar which later will be placed in Football's Hall of Fame in New Brunswick — the other two with centennial medallions. Logically enough, the team captain winning two of the three tosses will have the choice before the kickoff.

Bands from the two universities will march, medallions will be presented to the team captains, the centennial queen (Bobbi Specht of Texas) will be introduced and so will Rutgers President Mason W. Gross and Princeton President Robert F. Goheen. By no means incidentally, U.S. President Richard M. Nixon may also be present — a White House decision that will not be made until Friday.

During the half time program, former Rutgers and Princeton captains will be honored with the presentation of centennial medallions. Representing former Tiger teams, with the year of their captaincy, will be:

Frank Glick ('15), Arthur S. Lane ('33), W. Pepper Constable ('33), Thomas R. Mountain ('38), Howard J. Stanley ('40), Neil W. Zundel ('43), Richard T. West ('47), Edward N. Moore ('48), George J. Sella ('49), George A. Chandler ('50), Frank M. McPhee ('52), John Henn ('54), Royce M. Flippin, Jr. ('55), Michael E. Bowman ('56), John C. Sawchik, Jr. ('57), Frank Sorensen ('58), Edwin A. Weihenmayer III ('61), Daniel Terpack ('62), Cosmo Iacovazzi ('64), Paul Savidge ('65), Walter J. Kozumbe ('66) and Les Hitchner ('67).

At approximately 4:30, nearly 21 hours after the start of Friday's parade, a post-game ceremony will take place. The captain of the winning team will be on the field to receive the first presentation of the Centennial Trophy, a joint award of the Classes of 1932 at the two universities.

and has now piloted the Scarlet to a six game winning streak.

Backfield Has Fine Balance. While the extent to which the rebuilt line on offense can handle its blocking assignments is a major question mark, there is no doubt that the ball carriers have unusual potential. In the starting line up, Scott MacBean at quarter back and Brian McCullough at half have fine speed to the outside and are both passers. Captain Ellis Moore fullback, will keep Rutgers from over-sliding its defenses to protect against Princeton speed to the outside, while Pete Hauck's ability within the past week to best the other starting back-pot testifies to his running and blocking finesse. He has, at least for the time being, bested out junior Chris Montgomery for the job.

Princeton's second backfield will consist of senior Arnie Hultberg, a 215-lb. linebacker last year, at quarterback; sophomore John Bjorklund and Montgomery at fullback, and sophomore Mike Luger at Moore's replacement at full back. With this alignment, Hultberg, Bjorklund and Montgomery can all pose the threat of backs who can pass as well as run.

as fun. Intriguingly, a personnel switch last week has been given the Tigers a passing full back in a reserve capacity. Sophomore Doug Blake has been moved from a halfback post to back up Moore and Lager, with his classmate, Ted Gabach, moving to a halfback spot.

Other Princeton ball carriers likely to see action are sophomore quarterback Rod Plummer, last year's freshman captain, and Rob Bordley, who is possibly the fastest man on the squad. He is also a strong probability for use on punt returns.

The Tigers ranked sixth nationally last year in yards gained rushing, but were woefully lacking in an aerial game, where they averaged only 62 yards. It was a combination of such a deficiency, plus the availability of two former tailbacks in Maribon and McCullough, which prompted Jake McCandless to announce almost the same week he was named head coach that the single wing no longer was good enough for Princeton. The majority of its defensive platoon back and accordingly will not be out-manned by the capable Princeton backfield. The only serious rebuilding Rutgers has had to do has been in its offensive line, but give the Tigers lettermen at it can still start five lettermen over the Leopards last week up front.

It was proof that the half-time score was 41 to 8, and front-only Mike Guerin at left guard holding down the same had gained a total of 35 yards — just one of them rushing. Pulicastro hit on 13 of 17 passes, good for 214 yards, using such line receivers as Bill Benedict, Bob Stonebraker and Al Pieniemacher. Bruce Van Ness, the Princeton resident, was a fine runner at tailback, but the half carrier who impressed Jake McCandless most was 210 lb. fullback Steve Furguselli. McCandless and several members of his staff scouted the game, Jake saying afterward that "Rutgers' polished execution of its plays in an opening game was plain ominous."

Like Princeton, the Scarlet

QUICK LOOK AT RUTGERS
OFFENSE: Prime on-toe punch in quarterback Rich Pulicastro and tailback Bruce Van Ness. Line 265, rebuilt, in an early question mark.
DEFENSE: Like Princeton's, largely a veteran unit, anchored by linebacker Les Behringer. Tigers may have thin edge on depth.

CHIEF ASST: Combination of spring practice, early game with Lafayette and home field advantage — all combining to create confidence and high morale.
CHIEF PROBLEM: Ability to contain potentially explosive Princeton offense if it matures during opening game.

TYPE OF ATTACK: Pro setback with wide flanker and occasional use of I formation.

spot he did when the 1966 season began. Jack Hess, good enough to start as a defensive back last fall as a sophomore, and Mark Biros, a reserve with considerable game experience, but give the Tigers lettermen at both ends.

three-way battle for center. The tackles, Junior Dave Dirks and senior Jim Tkack, are brand new to the combat line, and may well have more than they can handle in paving the way for the running game.

Of the relative experience of the two teams, Rutgers deserves to be favored by a couple of touchdowns. If the Tigers hold the margin below that, or manage to edge the victor, it will be a good deal of an upset.

HAMILTON ON SATURDAY

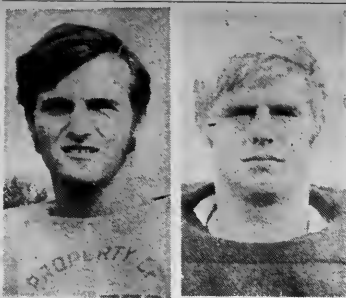

For PHS Grid Opener. The Princeton High School football team will open an eight-game schedule Saturday morning when it plays host to the Hornets of Hamilton High School. Kickoff is 11 a.m.

If past tradition holds, the Little Tigers will win because as coach Dick Wood pointed out, each team has been winning at home and losing away. "I hope that holds up," he said. Last year Hamilton routed visiting PHS, 27-7.

Princeton will be hard pressed to keep the streak alive, however. Hamilton, which lost only one game last year, will come to town the probable favorite.

"Hamilton has a big squad, but I don't count ourselves out of it for a minute," Wood added. He looks for a hard fought, evenly-contested game.

The Starters. Wood has starters picked for all positions with the exception of one of the most important — tailback. "I just haven't made up my mind here," he said. His indecision stems from an overabundance of candidates, six in all.

WILL START AGAINST HAMILTON: Two Little Tigers who will start in Saturday's opener here against Hamilton are fullback Gary Diviato (left) and Tim Taggart, an end. Taggart is 6-1, 135; Diviato, 6-11, 165.

The probable starter under normal conditions, Loujo Rossi, is still in the process of recovering from a leg injury. Pete Thompson, Jeff Grover and Rich Oberman have played the position during scrimmages, but each is not the complete passer runner the tailback should be in the single wing.

Also under consideration are Phil White and Eddie Vernon. Wood described them as "my two best runners but they can't pass." Chances are, Wood will engage in considerable shuf-fling at the spot until one of them stands out from the others.

Elsewhere in the backfield, Wood will go with Craig Singer at wingback and Maurice Peabody at quarterback and Gary Diviato at fullback, although Wood said Lawrence Parker would play a lot at full.

On the line, Tim Taggart and Willard will be the ends, Dennis O'Brien and Isaac Menashe the guards, Chris Minton and Joe DeMaggio the tackles and Tom Ford, center.

Walt Dimitruk, one of the prime guard candidates, has been lost to the team, Wood reported. Walt is suffering recurring headaches from a concussion he received last year and his doctor has ruled out football contact. He may, however, be available for punting duties, Wood said.

Hamilton Rebuilding. Hamilton has a new coach this year in Bill McEvoy, who replaces Dave Bryan. It was the youthful and energetic Bryan who brought football respectability to Hamilton.

McEvoy sees his first year as one of rebuilding — he lost all his offensive players but two — but he reports some good prospects, especially from Hamilton's principal feeder school, Grice. Wood agrees that Hamilton won't be as good as it was last year. "But it will be a good team because of its feeder system."

Two sophomores that might break into the Hamilton lineup are Bob Harris and Shawn McGee, who led Grice to two unbeaten seasons. The two offensive returning lettermen are quarterback Thad Stockton and running back Phil Hilton. The other returning players are the defensive squad, where the Hornets should be the strongest.

After a third and final scrimmage last week — a tri-scrimmage involving Freehold Central and Marlboro High School, Wood said, "By this time next week, we shouldn't have as many bugs to iron out. We have a large amount of material and we should do well with what we have."

Just how well will be answered in part on Saturday.

MOORE WINS HOLE IN 1. Second Year in a Row. No one has an edge on Tom Moore when it comes to accuracy with a golf club.

For the second year in a row, the Princeton taxi driver has won the 4th annual Hole-in-One contest sponsored by the Princeton Patrolmen's Benevolent Association.

Tom placed his ball two feet, five inches from the pin on the 140-yard practice hole at Springdale Saturday to win a $400 set of clubs. He edged by one inch, Ernest Procaccio of the Wright Hardware Store who won a $30 pair of golf shoes.

Last year Tom won a color television set and the year before he came in second. This year's prize was presented by Governor Richard Hughes.

Pt. Frank Boccanfusi, contest chairman, reported that the police raised about $1,000 which they will use to help finance youth programs sponsored by the PBA.

CHANGES AT IUN

New Coach, New Formation. The Hun School football team will have a new coach and a new formation this season, but the outlook for the Red and Black is the same old story—another winning season.

The new coach is Dave Lee, a product of Springfield College. He replaces Hawley Waterman, long-time coach (12 years) who in the past two seasons had guided Hun to undefeated seasons, although there have been three ties. Lee, the school's head basketball and baseball coach, had served Waterman as an assistant for the past six campaigns.

The new formation for Hun is the I, replacing the split T favored by Waterman. "I'm changing everything, offensive and defensive," said Lee. As for defense, Lee expects he would use the standard sets. "Nothing fancy," he said. A coaching defense has been a trademark of Hun's in past years. Under the I, the quarterback, fullback and tailback set up in a line behind the center; the second fullback is split to either side. "I think the I offers a little more deception, a little more power than the T," Lee commented. "I feel it will open the game up more."

Veteran Backfield to run the I, Lee has inherited four talented veterans. At quarterback is Mike Maguire, a 6-4, 165-pound senior who is starting his third year on the varsity. Mike has the ability to be as good as he wants to be.

At one halfback slot is 165-pound scrapper Steve Peters. Peters is Hun's open field threat and extremely hard to bring down once he penetrates the line of scrimmage. He and Maguire are the team's co-captains.

Mike Rossi, 6-2, 156 and an all-around athlete (basketball and baseball) is the other half back, while at fullback is Jim Kopliner, 265 pounds. Kopliner and Maguire are both Princeton residents.

The line is less fixed but Lee has nonetheless the nucleus for an outstanding front row wall.

At center is Rick Van Orden, 190; the guards Billy Dennis (205) and Greg Cortina (240). Cortina, the No. 1 high school shot put and discus thrower in Mercer County last year, transferred from Steiner High School to Hun. His contribution to the Hun line will be immense.

The tackles will be veterans, Dirk Whitehead, a 230-pound junior, and Bob Straniero. Actually, Lee is short only at the ends, where one receiver will be Rich Ziegler.

"Our first group will be big and strong," Lee observed, "but we have no depth. Defense is going to be the strongest; offensively, we can be as strong as we want to be, but it will take a while to pull it together." He is presently working with a squad of 40 which he plans to whittle down to 36.

So far, the team has scrimmaged Peddie ("about even") and Pingry, and will scrimmage Hightstown away on Saturday. The opener against Adair Park is next Saturday, Oct. 4. The game will be played on the Hun field.

Lee dismisses those who have made Hun the pre-season choice to repeat a champions of the Penn Jersey League. But on paper, at least, Hun has the material to go all the way. Lee should find his first year at the helm a very satisfying one indeed.

MIDLAND WINS TITLE

In West Windsor Tennis, Bernd Midland survived two days of almost continuous tennis and won the West Windsor Men's singles championship last Sunday, with a three-set victory over Jack Haring in the finals.

IN THE MIDDLE OF THE I: Mike Maguire (left), Hun quarterback, will line up directly behind the center and fullback Jim Kopliner will be positioned right behind Maguire in the I formation which coach Dave Lee plans to inaugurate at Hun this season. Both are returning lettermen.

Midland captured the first set 4-2, but dropped the second by the identical score. With the third set tied 3-3, he rallied strongly and swept the next three games and the deciding set.

Midland had run into more serious trouble in the semi-finals, battling against Colin Henry, who was considered the tournament favorite by many. Leading 6-4, 4-2, Henry suffered a serious leg injury and was forced to default the match to Midland.

In his way in the finals, Midland defeated Tony Zaccarelli, 6-3, 6-3, and Sam Shuren, 7-5, 6-2. Haring advanced with straight set wins over Steve Giffen, 6-2, 6-4; Ted Born, 6-1, 7-5; and Bill Novelli, 6-3, 6-3.

Other scores: Born over Jay Sexton, 6-4, 6-1; Giffen over Duane Bornheimer, 7-5, 1-6, 7-5; and over Neil Leffkowitz, 6-3, 6-4; and Leffkowitz over Walter Carvin, 3-6, 6-4, 7-5; Shuren over Whitley Martindale, 6-4, 6-1, 4-6; Cliff Crawford over 10 all. They are Princeton Inn, Leg's Golf, Stefanelli's, Balestrieri and Farr Hardware.

The championships continue this weekend with matches for the women's singles titles. Boys under 18 singles scheduled. Finals will be held Sunday at 3:30.

METTLER TAKES LEAD

In Women's Bowling League. After two weeks of play, Mettler has taken an early lead in the Princeton Women's Bowling League.

Mettler has 12 points, two more than Rocky & Sons and Plumburn. Pickett Store, which are tied for second. Roscoe's Cafe, Cranbury Bank and Wild's Shell Station all have eight. The remaining two teams in the league are Salt's Colonial Duane (6) and Pin Falls (2).

Roscoe's fashioned the high point series of 2003 last week, while Rocky & Sons claimed the high team game of 815.

Individual high games were a 180 by Marilyn Murphy of Cranbury Bank, a 170 by Betty Cooper of Roscoe's, a 170 by Mary Harburt of Pin Falls and a 162-166 by Evie Salley of Rocky & Sons. Sara Rose and Carol Stroganuk converted three pin splits.

Schwartz Champion Again

Arthur Schwartz has wrapped up his second consecutive club championship on the links at Bodens Brook, defeating Frank Petito, 1 up, in a 36-hole final round.

Schwartz and Petito, former teammates on the Princeton University varsity golf team, engaged in a seesaw battle, with Schwartz finally capturing the lead for good on the 34th hole. Beginning well, he won the first three holes, but found himself two down at the end of 18, and four down after 24. He finally drew even on the 33rd and then went 1 up on the following hole.

In the semi-finals, Schwartz beat Dave Petito, Frank's younger brother, 2 up. Frank Petito defeated George Young in his semi-final match.

rolled 204-196-225—625, and Tony Tamasi of Tamasi Plumbing fashioned a 602 on games of 182-220-200. High single games: Jerry Perpetua, 235; Bill Cavanaugh, 232; Bill Whatley, 232; Bill Murphy, 225 and Bill Penell and Boh Sculerati, 223.

Between 214 and 200 were Wes Cawley, Joe Baldino, Harry Kahny, Craig Donaldson, Bill Butcher, Bud Fowler, Angelo Tamasi and Jim Kahny.

Kevin Delaney was far ahead of everyone else in the Tri-County Firemen's League with a 235. Kevin rolls for Princeton 1%.

Al Kren and Ray Mount followed with a 217 and 213. Bunched between 200 and 200 were Ed Hughes, Ed Lemere, Norm Luck, Jack Petrone, Bill Davall, Stan Tuntum, Jack Zimmoester and Ray Slovinsky.

Two points separate the top half of the 12-team league. On top are Rocky Hill and Kingston with 12 points each. Tied at 10 all are Princeton No. 1, Mercer No. 3, Plainsboro and Princeton Junction. Four more are tied with eight points each.

It was Delaney leading the field again in the Nassau League where he rolls for the Harrison Athletic Club. This time Kevin had a 211. Mike Penell of Tiger Garage had a 236.

From there, scores dipped sharply to Jim Shely's 213. Homer Hill, Bill Parke, Don Shinn, Ed Duncan Jr., Tom Sculerati, Jerry Perpetua, Dick Older and Sal DeMeglio were between 203 and 200.

Like the others in the early going, the Nassau League is tightly bunched. Five teams—Crescents, Kingston Wine and Liquor, Grover Lamber, Tiger Garage and Harrison AC—are tied for first place at 12 all, while Princeton Aviation and Plumbers and Steamfitters 380 are knotted at 10 each.

Three had a good night in the Business Women's League, as far as averages were concerned. Eleanor Pinelli of Carousel rolled 74 points over her average for a fine 200—top game of the week.

Pauline Pileone of MacKenzie Realty spilled pins at a 188, 49 over her average for a 180 and Kay Higgins of University Cleaners was 45 over her average. She rolled a 191.

Other high games: Betty Kleiber, 191; Dot Wheeler, 186; Marilyn Wilson and Diane Fowler, 178; Lillian Burroughs, 177; Dean Buccini and Sis Snyder, 174; Dail Forsyth, 172; and Gail Devito, 171.

Rocky Hill Inn and Nassau Conover, both with 14 points, trail the leader, Reisterstown, by one. Carousel and Griggs Corner have 10 each, Claridge Liquor nine, and Princeton Taxi, University Cleaners and Thorne's all eight.

FIRST GAME SATURDAY

For Princeton Day Eleven The Princeton Day School football team has its best chance in three years to win its opening football game Saturday, when it meets Montclair Academy at home kick off at 2 p.m.

The past two years PDS has had to face Hun, the power of the Penn Jersey league and neither outcome has been satisfactory. The first year the Panthers lost 13-7, but the game wasn't as close as the score indicates. Last year Hun walked to a 27-0 triumph.

Montclair, in the past two seasons at least, has been more on the Panther's level. It won two years ago 21-7, but the Blue and White gained more a year ago with a 8-6 victory at Montclair. The visitors have already begun their season, losing their first game last weekend.

The Panthers will go with an experienced backfield that has plenty of speed. The biggest tests will come in the block of the offensive line and the play of the defense.

GYMKHANA PLANNED

Gymnastics on Horseback Princeton Day School will hold its second Gymkhana Sun day from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Meadow Mount Farm on Cherry Hill Road. A Gymkhana is "games on horseback," and consists of polo races, egg races, sack races and other events, all performed on horseback. Horses are not provided by the school. HOW SWEET IT IS Borough Wins Pistol Match. First the Green Bay Packers, then the St. Louis Cardinals and now the Township police all have been knocked off their winning perch.

The Township's hopes of winning for the third time in a row and thus retiring the Ellis-Harris Pistol Trophy were gunned down by the Borough which outshot its rival, 1341 to 1281. Beginning in 1963 when the Township won, the two departments alternated winning the trophy the first four years. However, in 1968 when it was the Borough's turn to win, the Township won again, now in stead of being permanently retired, the trophy rests again in Borough Hall.

The Borough also won the Class A portion (better shoot) of the match which was held at the Princeton Bank and Beagle Club Range. As is often true in sports, a new man helped the Borough. The tables on the Township. Rookie Patrolman Joe Wilhelm led all shooters with a 296. His marksmanship also earned him the Chief's Trophy, presented to the shooter with the lowest score.

Others on the Borough's A team are Lt. Michael Carnevale, who shot a 287; Sgt. John J. Bellow (277), Ptl. Arthur Jackson (273) and Ptl. Douglas Watson (271). They collected 116 points to the Township's 132.

Shooting for the Township was Lt. Richard Steiner and Sgt. Lexington Anderson, both shooting 283; Sgt. Anthony Nisi (277), Sgt. Michael Lisi (280) and Ptl. Anthony Gaylord (244).

The victory was sweet indeed for the Borough which has had to endure Township gages the last two years. True, the Township was without its best shooter, Ptl. Anthony Pinelli, who is acknowledged to be the best shot in either department, but Lt. Carnevale maintained the Borough would have won no matter what Pinelli shot. "That's why we're so pleased about it," he said.

For the Township, it's wait till next year. "We'll ossify them," said Ptl. David Cromwell. "Oh, I can hear them now; they're going to blow this up big," said another Township politician.

The Borough got another hard in its training this year as well on the pistol range as it does on a basketball court. After last year's defeat on the range, one Township officer remarked that it was too bad the Borough didn't shoot as well as it did on the basketball court, adding to a Borough upset of the Township in an exhibition basketball contest between the two. With this mutual skewering going on, chances are Ptl. Pinelli, who arrived too late to shoot this year, will show up in time next year.

BLAIR vs. MATHER

In Springfield Final. Jim Blair and Moory Mather will meet Sunday in a 36-hole match which will determine the 1968 champion of Springfield Golf Club. Mather reached the final round by defeating Jack Sweeney, 3 and 2, while Blair won by the same margin over Lester Pearson.

Mose Gates was the winner in competition among the Beaten Eight, those eliminated in the first round play in the championship final. He defeated Bill Quackenbush on the 18th green, 1 up.

Lyle Fitch was the winner in the second flight with a 2 up conquest of Woody Wirsig. Dutch Schoch, who last week won the Men's Senior Championship (see below) defeated Bill Mulman in the third flight final, 3 and 2.

Dan Donahue reached the final round of the fourth flight with a forfeit victory over Kline Fulmer and then wrapped up the trophy with a 1 and 6 triumph over Ralph Alaire. Clifton Bennett defeated Bill Pearce, 3 and 2, to win the fifth flight. Ed Johnson's 3 and 3 win over Ralph Mather sealed the sixth flight, with the seventh flight semi-finals and final still to be played.

Schoch Wins with 156. Rounds of 77 and 79 for a Gross 156 won the Senior Championship last week end for Dutch Schoch, the varsity golf coach. Thomas Jamer was the runner up with 81-81-65.

Bill Bonhrith took low net honors in the 35-39 age bracket when he subtracted his 17 handicap from a two day total of 175 for a net 114. He had rounds of 92 and 83. Schoch was the runner up for low net when his handicap of 3 pared his two-day total to 146.

In the 60-63 bracket, James was low with his 165-18 = 147, followed by Harry Volweider with a net 149. Volweider shot a gross 83-90 = 183, less his handicap of 17 each day.

The 65-69 bracket was won by R.E. Betteson with a gross 86-92 = 178 each day for a net 136. Betteson's two rounds were 88 and 92. The runner up, Brian Nelson, whose 15 handicap pared his two-day total from 174 to 134 after totals of 88 and 86.

Harold Houghton shot a 94-86 = 180 gross for a net 142 (19 handicap) to take honors on the 70-74 bracket. The runner up was Walter Roberts with 101-98 = 199 less a 13 handicap for a net of 173.

POLITICS

In Township. The harried commuter drew the sympathy of Township Democrats this week, as Committee candidates Golda Gottlieb and Richard Bergman made walking tours through the municipality. The Democrats recommend a Commuter Advisory Board to represent the commuter, present his grievances to Penn Central and establish liaison with the State Department of Transportation, the League of Municipalities and the governing bodies of towns along the Penn Central route.

Insufficient parking spaces near stations, air-conditioned cars, poorly maintained trains, poor scheduling, late trains and lack of seating space were the specific complaints expressed by commuters to candidates.

"Numerous commuters feel that have never been adequately represented by local governments and have no forum for airing grievances," Mrs. Gottlieb and Mr. Bergman state.

The Democrats also question the announced decision of the Recreation Commission to consider a golf course, ice rink and lake as possible future recreation facilities for Princeton.

"Is a golf course really the most pressing recreational facility needed by the community at large?" the candidates ask.

Citing the Commission's decision to ask technologists for their opinions, the Democrats ask, "Has the Recreation Commission sounded out older citizens of Princeton as to their needs? Decisions . . . should be arrived at only after careful examination of the needs of all segments of our community and the development of a comprehensive year round program for all ages."

week that "continuity of the experienced, responsible Republican government that has brought the Township many years of economical, orderly and forward-looking municipal progress" is the principal issue in this year's election.

The Township's affairs have been managed in such a way that our citizens have received a full dollar of value for every tax dollar spent, while Township Committee has constantly expanded the scope of our municipal services to include the Community Park Pool-Tennis complex, the development of open space acreage, modernization of roads, and the public library.

"Of even greater importance the Republican leadership has shown a continuing response to the needs of Township residents with the establishment of the Joint Civil Rights Commission, the alignment of the Route 92 Princeton Bypass in cooperation with surrounding municipalities, the designation of the Borough Housing Authority to act as agent for Township low income housing, participation in the Slony Brook Millstone Regional Sewer Study Group, and the initiation of the recently adopted Master Plan for long range community development."

The Chance Wallace statement continues, "We do not content to rest on past achievements. We are committed to work for the consolidation of Princeton Township and Princeton Borough and increased municipal cooperation, to facilitate construction of appropriate housing for all township residents, to seek a solution to the drug problem, to expand recreation facilities of Community Park, and to improve conditions in the Princeton Shopping Center."

7 CARS RANSACKED

Nothing taken. Seven cars parked in the Township—three in Clover Lane, two on Riverside Drive and one each on Deer Path and Tee-Ar Dr.—were ransacked late Saturday night but nothing was taken, according to the Township Police.

Detective Samuel Bianco said that the culprits were apparently looking for something of value. All the cars were unoccupied, he said.

In one car, he continued, the items were removed and placed under nearby bushes. In the others, it was obvious by articles inside had been disturbed but nothing was taken, he said.

TWO SLIGHTLY HURT
In Separate Accidents, Two persons received slight injuries after separate intersection accidents in the Borough last week.

How Can You R.E.S.I.S.T.?

It's malemate right time again for the R.E.S.I.S.T. and if you want a cuddly, loveable furry, pure-bred malemate who will grow up strongly to pull your sled, call 924-4008, and ask for Jean Hunter.

The R.E.S.I.S.T.'s are those Middle School and high school kids who spend all day Saturdays in the Hopewell barn working with computers. They have access to a pure-bred malemate bitch whose puppies are notoriously saleable as well as cuddly, loveable, furry, etc.

The last litter earned $600. The nine pups in this litter—well, make an offer. Money goes chiefly to pay light and power bills for those hungry computers. This litter, however, will heat the barn. The R.E.S.I.S.T.'s will buy pipes and heater, and Hunt & Augustine, the building contractor, is contributing the labor.

For an injury to her nose which she received when her car was involved in an accident Friday morning at Elm and Rosedale Roads, one of the Borough's more dangerous intersections. Pil Ronald Holiday charged the second driver, Susan E. Mape, 21 1/2 Willow Street, with failure to yield to a car entering a through street. The Mages car, traveling on Elm, continued on 144 feet after the impact.

Thursday morning, Frank Coome, 62, 21 Maclean Street, was charged with failure to yield when he made a left turn in front of a car driven by Barbara McBride, 37, of Kendall Park. The car was traveling in opposite directions on Harrison Street when Mr. Coome tried to turn onto Prospect.

Leigh McBride, 12, a passenger, was taken to Princeton Hospital in a patrol car and released after a century on the head and released. Pil Thomas Michael made the charge against Mr. Coome. The mishap took place at 8:31 a.m.

DR. HELMS SETTLES IN

At Princeton Methodist, The Rev. Dr. Jay K. Helms, new pastor of Princeton United Methodist Church, has spent the summer getting acquainted with his congregation, and attended his first meeting with the pastors' Association last week.

"I'm always hopeful that there will be as much cooperation as possible between the various faiths and denominations," he said Thursday at the parsonage on Laurel Circle.

He replaces the Rev. Dr. Leon Gibson lock, stock and telephone number in a job swap that took Dr. Gibson to Palmyra, where Dr. Helms served for the past five years.

Dr. Helms, a Methodist clergyman for 26 years, is an organizer. He was president of the Tri-Borough Ministerial Association during 1967 and 1968 when negotiation culminated in the formation of a Tri-Borough Council of Churches, embracing Palmyra, Riverton and Cinnaminson.

He is currently president of the Board of Missions in the Southern New Jersey Conference of his denomination. "We have a number of programs that all churches will be involved in. He mentions that a cooperative ministry in Trenton with the Presbyterian Church, now in the planning stage, "It should be implemented in the next few months." Serving on the board with him is the Rev. James L. Mechem of Kingston Presbyterian Church.

The board is working to "develop the innovation type of ministries in Trenton to help meet some of the problems there," Dr. Helms adds.

Active Church, The Palmyra congregation was an active one; the sanctuary was renovated, there were experimental worship services embodying art, music, dance and poetry. Laymen were among the leaders of the inter-church Livestock Show and the summer picnic. The youth took part in such communities service as patterning brain - damaged children and Head Start, and were encouraged to serve within their own church.

"I hope to be able to continue or implement some of the

WHERE? WHERE ELSE...

But at County Antiques can you find...

A brass push-up candlestick; a candle mold; brass and iron fireweights; a dated Penna coverlet with a rare rose pattern; a Marcellus spread for 5 baby (the first remembrance is usually that they are cut down of make do's); this is unique in its size and condition of sparkling whiteness.

A yellow rose family Canton pitcher (there is a similar one at the Metropolitan Museum) our most recent find, and we will check age as we suspect it is quite early.

County Antiques will be closed Sept. 26, 27, 28.

Come to the Antiques Show at Hunterdon Art Center, Old Stone Mill, Clinton, N.J.

FIRE SALE!!!

Their misfortune can be your good fortune. This charming stone cottage on almost six wooded acres was just about to go under contract when a midnight fire gutted the kitchen wing. Now some lucky and perceptive buyer has a chance to do his own thing rebuilding and/or remodeling.

As it stands the bedroom wing and high-ceilinged living room have suffered mainly smoke damage. The sturdy stone walls of the kitchen wing still stand. There is a separate, income producing garage apartment. And all on one of the nicest pieces of northwest township land available.

We have outstanding listings both in Princeton and in the surrounding communities. For example, in Princeton Junction a natural shingled, two story Colonial with many custom details including central air conditioning and slate entry and four bedrooms for $47,500. On Rosedale Lane in the Western Section of Princeton we offer a "big little house" — not too many rooms but all of them of more than ample size built on two levels with a thirty foot living room on each floor, magnificent land, startlingly beautiful swimming pool and gardens. To the north in Montgomery Township, a country manor house of seven or nine bedrooms and many main floor rooms on over nine acres of country property in the mid 80's. To the west in Hopewell Township, a custom built four bedroom New England Colonial on one and a half acres with three working fireplaces, sunken living room with beamed ceiling and every modern convenience in the high 60's. And in Lawrence Township an almost one and a half acre building lot in a prime location offered at only $16,500. These and so many more can be seen through this office.

Victorian brick house centrally located on a large beautifully planted lot. This is the kind of house with materials and workmanship that cannot be duplicated with today's building costs. There are 13' ceilings on the 1st floor, plaster mouldings on ceilings, a handsome library lined with bookshelves, many fireplaces, a completely renovated kitchen with eat-in area; four bedrooms, two baths on 2nd floor and five bedrooms and two baths on 3rd floor, as well as separate servants' wing with three rooms and two baths. There is a new furnace and hot water supply, 90% of the electric and plumbing has been re-done. The cellar is under the whole house and has two outside entrances. There's a two car garage and tool house and also a fine tree house in one of the handsome trees surrounding the house. This is a wonderful house for a large family. $95,000

SOMETHING FOR EVERYONE!
The charms of houses built about 1777 would be obvious to those who love them, i.e. 2' walls, deep, deep window sills, wide board floors and massive fireplace. In this case living room is 25 x 13 and family room-dining room combination with fireplace is 24 x 13, with a library for good measure. The 4th dormitory sized bedroom has built in bunks and cupboards aplenty.
Large detached 2 car garage could easily become a studio if you have need for such. The challenges are here too — kitchen could be modernized, baths could be spruced up. Lovely and convenient part of Lawrenceville. $48,000
Conversely now — our youngsters think anyone over 30 is ancient and that thinking carries over to homes sometimes. Some buyers don't want an "old house" and even put 5 year old ones in this category. We'll compromise then and offer — this gleaming white 2 year old Colonial set in the greenery of lovely lawn and towering trees, some of which are outlined in groups of free form bark lined beds on a beautiful dead end street in Longacres. A more convenient 4 bedroom, 2½ bath plan would be hard to find with its fireplace, beamed family room, formal dining room, well equipped kitchen, basement and 2 car garage. $52,500

ELEVEN ACRES . . . only a short drive from Princeton, here are 11 acres in a very nice, very horsey countryside. There's a big barn, too — a very solid structure that needs new siding, but is large enough for 4 box stalls and a tack room. The land is rolling, with many trees and shrubs, but it's not a forest — you can really look over your own acres and enjoy the view. The old farm house has a sun porch and a large paneled living room, a great big modern kitchen, bedroom and bath on the first floor. Upstairs: 2 bedrooms and an apartment which changed back into master bedroom and bath. $53,500

SMALL ESTATE . . . on 5.25 wooded acres, with a mountain brook tumbling over boulders on the western boundary of the property, here is a beautiful country home with a facade of pinkish Williamsburg bricks. Custom-built for the present owner, the house has many other architectural details reminiscent of the Williamsburg theme. Charming entry hall, large living room with fireplace, separate dining room, beautiful kitchen, big master bedroom with its own bath and huge closets, second bedroom & bath, paneled den (or 3rd bedroom) and large recreation room downstairs. Central air-conditioning. Flag-stoned terrace outside the den. Masonry barn with hay loft. Attached 2-car garage. $59,500

At present, the house has large (15'x30') living room, with fireplace, separate dining room, big kitchen (17'9"x14'), paneled study, a master bedroom 19'x15', two other bedrooms 14'x15', and huge closets with many built-ins. Two full baths. Maid's room has been converted into an extra kitchen, but could be a family room or 4th bedroom as there is a bathroom adjoining. $69,500
